Dr. Ali Mostashari is the Director of Global Institute for Sustainable Development and has served as the Director of the Smart Cities Consortium and Chair of the Sociotechnical Systems Program at Stevens Institute of Technology from 2008-2014. From 2004-2008, Dr. Mostashari served as a strategic adviser to the Assistant Secretary General for Africa at the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). He received his Ph.D. in Engineering Systems from MIT, a Master of Science in Civil Engineering/Transportation from MIT, a Master of Scienc in Technology and Public Policy from MIT, a Master of Science in Chemical Engineering/Biotechnology with a minor in Business Administration from the University of Nebraska, a Graduate Certificate in Negotiation and Conflict Resolution from Harvard University and a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering/Energy Systems from Sharif University of Technology.